“Beyond Diversity to Cultural Proficiency”

Did You Know Publishing, Inc., creates, promotes and markets many educational tools; one of which is a Cultural Competency Curriculum called "Woven Traditions" which interweaves all the above thus the name. The basket represents a way of putting, bringing and caring items together at the same time. The quilt represents the tradition of interweaving and bringing together the sharing of the past, present and future at the same time. Collectively, “Woven Traditions” connects one’s culture to our Living, Learning and Working Environment at the same time.

A few highlights are:

- The Ohio State University adopted our Curriculum three years ago as a course offering – Today “Woven Traditions” is a General Education requirement at The Ohio State University
